Hardware Costs Are Increasing

Businesses planning computer replacements or technology upgrades should be aware of continued pricing pressure in the PC market. According to Gartner, combined DRAM and SSD prices are projected to rise approximately 130% by the end of 2026, contributing to an estimated 17% increase in PC prices compared with 2025.

Ask Your CPA:

"If we replace or upgrade our business computers and technology this year, are there tax deductions or accelerated depreciation options we should consider?"
